

Tennessee Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics: FNCE® 2015

There is something special about the time of year when FNCE® rolls around and Academy members are able to submerge themselves in one location to learn new things, meet new friends and reconnect with old ones, hear from experts, and make new memories. The Tennessee Academy took full advantage of FNCE® being on their home turf to rally enthusiasm from new and current volunteers. TAND's efforts to maximize involvement as the host state of FNCE® was a proud moment for the affiliate, a way to connect members and the community, and great for a successful Academy FNCE®.

TAND's success didn't go without pouring extra energy and efforts into preparation for FNCE®. TAND had more than 100 volunteers give their time to managing the TAND booth, marketing the meeting, participating in pre-FNCE excursions, planning and attending a TAND reception, and helping with FNCE® behind the scenes planning. Students and interns were paired strategically so they had a good experience and were able to learn alongside RDNs.

Given the accessible location, many first-time FNCE® attendee TAND members were able to participate and experience the many benefits of FNCE® and meeting fellow TAND members.

To learn more about TAND's involvement with FNCE® 2015, contact TAND's President, Dee Pratt, RDN, LDN.

At right are several pictures of TAND dietitians, students, and interns in action at FNCE®.

